

Personal Alarms

Personal Alarms are a small portable device that emit a 120 dcb siren. For use as a personal safety tool, the personal alarms can be clipped to clothing, back packs, belts, etc. and are activated by simply pulling on the lanyard attached. Activation of a personal alarm should be when the user is in fear for their personal safety, in an effort to draw attention to their situation, as well as to dissuade/ disengage the aggressor. For those already carrying a personal alarm; please remember to test your unit once per month, outdoors. If the unit begins to lose volume, a battery replacement is necessary.

Personal alarms are available to students, staff and faculty free of charge.
